Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland

Third Statutory Review of Electoral Arrangements

South Lanarkshire Council Area

Constitution of Commission

Chairman:	The Honourable Lord Osborne
Deputy Chairman:	Mr K J Clark CBE
Commissioners:	Dr E Graham
	Mr S McDowall CBE
	Mrs G Silver

The Rt. Hon Donald Dewar MP
Secretary of State for Scotland

We, the Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland, present our proposals for the future electoral arrangements for South Lanarkshire Council area resulting from our Third Statutory Review of all Scottish local authorities.

In accordance with the provisions of section 18(3) of the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973, copies of our report, together with illustrative maps, are being sent to South Lanarkshire Council with a request that the report and maps should be made available for public inspection at their offices. In addition, copies of our report, without maps, are being sent to those who received a copy of our consultation letter or who have subsequently expressed an interest by making detailed representations in respect of our provisional proposals which were published on 23 October 1997.

Notice is also being given in newspapers circulating in the Council area of the fact that the report has been made so that interested persons may inspect the report and maps at the Council's Offices.

Third Statutory Review of Electoral Arrangements South Lanarkshire Council Area

Introduction

1. The Local Government etc. (Scotland) Act 1994 determined that on and after 1 April 1996, Scotland should be divided into local government areas as named and described in Schedule 1 to the Act and that, for each area, there should be a council consisting of a convener and councillors. It further determined that each council should have all the functions exercised immediately before 1 April in relation to their area by any existing regional, islands or district council.
2. On 1 April 1996 all local government areas existing immediately before that date which were regions and districts and all regional and district councils ceased to exist.
3. Schedule 2 of the Local Government etc. (Scotland) Act 1994 also established that every local government area (other than areas of the old islands councils) should be divided into such electoral wards as may be specified in a direction made by the Secretary of State after carrying out such consultations as he considered appropriate. Those wards were to apply for the purpose of any election of councillors held before 'the relevant year of election' (defined as meaning the first year of ordinary election of councillors for the area in question occurring after the making of an order constituting the new electoral wards of that local government area in consequence of the review currently being undertaken by the Commission). In accordance with procedures that applied prior to the reorganisation in 1975, the views of councils were invited. Thereafter, the Secretary of State determined that, for the purpose of any election of councillors before the relevant year of election, 74 electoral wards were appropriate for South Lanarkshire local government area. Additionally, the proposed wards 1 - 61 should be as described in the report of the Local Government Boundary Commission for Scotland to the Secretary of State for Scotland on its second statutory review of electoral arrangements for:

Clydesdale District dated 28 June 1994, (16 wards);

East Kilbride District dated 28 June 1994, (20 wards);

Hamilton District dated 21 September 1994 (25 wards).

A further 13 wards were described in schedule 2 to the Direction.

Origin and Commencement of the Review

4. The Commission has a statutory duty under section 14 of the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973 to undertake periodic reviews of local authority electoral arrangements. The Local Government etc. (Scotland) Act 1994 amended section 20 and schedule 5 of the 1973 Act, directing that:

as soon as practicable after 1 April 1996, the Boundary Commission shall-review the electoral arrangements for all local government areas for the purpose of considering the future electoral arrangements for those areas; and formulate proposals for those arrangements.

5. This, therefore, is one of the statutory reviews required in terms of section 16(2) and Schedule 5 of the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973, as amended.
6. On 22 March 1996, the Scottish Office Development Department gave local authorities advance notice of the intention of the Commission to carry out a third statutory review of electoral arrangements. On 29 March 1996, we wrote to all councils to announce the commencement of the third statutory review of electoral arrangements and to explain the procedures to be followed. We also gave notice of the commencement of the review to all Community Councils, Electoral Registration Officers, Members of Parliament with a constituency interest and the Scottish headquarters of the political parties. In addition, public notice of the commencement of the review, which included an invitation to interested parties to apply to us for a copy of our consultation letter to councils, was given in newspapers.

Background

7. During the passage through Parliament of the 1994 Act, there was cross-Party understanding that we would review the number of councillors and boundaries of electoral wards for each council in time for changes to be implemented for the 1999 local elections. This was seen to be important because at the time of reorganisation, as mentioned above, the Secretary of State defined the electoral wards for the new councils and to a great extent based these on existing district wards. It was, however, recognised that using the existing district wards led to some councils being significantly over-represented in relation to other areas. Further, it also led to councillors within the same local authority areas representing wards with significantly different numbers of electors. Accordingly, our review was seen as important to ensure equity in representation across and within all local authorities. Further, the new authorities were now responsible for the provision of the full range of all services and, accordingly, consideration had to be given to determining an appropriate number of councillors for service provision to be effectively managed.

8. This review is, therefore, the first conducted by us which sets out to determine the appropriate number of councillors required for councils to operate efficiently and to establish the boundaries of electoral wards. To achieve both objectives our review was conducted in 2 main stages:

identification of a suitable methodology for determining numbers of councillors which, applied across all local authority areas, would be seen to be equitable and consistent; and the division of each local authority area into the appropriate number of electoral wards in accordance with the statutory rules.

9. A copy of the statutory rules to be employed by us and the Secretary of State in considering proposals for electoral arrangements is provided at Appendix A.

Number of Councillors

10. In formulating proposals for the number of councillors we have been guided by two main principles:

effective management of councils; and equity amongst electors.

11. We recognised that the number of councillors is crucial because there is, undoubtedly, some number below which it would be impossible for a council to discharge its duty to deliver services to its population and, conversely, there is also some number above which a council becomes unwieldy and cumbersome. We were influenced in this respect by the prior considerations of two other bodies.
12. The Royal Commission on Local Government In Scotland 1966-69, under the Chairmanship of the Rt. Hon. Lord Wheatley, provided a basis by which the number of regional councillors and the size of constituency to be represented might be determined by taking into account the fact that population density varies widely in Scotland as a whole and within regions. The then accepted view was that council size should not generally exceed 75 members. In England and Wales the Redcliffe-Maude Commission, which reported to Parliament in 1969, also drew attention to the management problems of large councils and endorsed the recommendation of The Committee on the Management of Local Government that a maximum number of 75 councillors should be set.
13. After careful consideration we concluded that, in the Scottish context and to provide additional flexibility, an upper limit of 80 councillors should be set. We also concluded that a minimum number of councillors should be set, recognising that even the smallest local government areas are now responsible for a wide range of functions. Accordingly, we decided that the minimum number of councillors should be 18. Further, these limits should apply to all councils.

14. Regarding equity as between voters, we considered that ideally each elector's vote should possess the same weight and significance in local government elections throughout the country; furthermore, ideally, there should be similar mutual accessibility between electors and councillors. However, since Scotland is a country of great diversity, both geographically, and demographically, a fact reflected in the areas for which councils created by the Act of 1994 are responsible, and since we are satisfied that, in the interests of good local government, the number of councillors in any council must fall within certain limits, we concluded that these ideals are unattainable in practice. In this situation, recognising that a fair degree of homogeneity exists within certain groups of councils, which exhibit broadly similar geographic and demographic characteristics, we resolved to strive for equity in the senses mentioned within these groups, so far as that is possible within the constraints of the legislation under which we operate.
15. We, therefore, proposed a methodology which initially categorised council areas by density and distribution of population using data available from the 1991 Census of Population. Having classified council areas according to these criteria and adjusted the ratio of electors to each councillor to take account of similar characteristics, we have been able to achieve a broad equity of electorate across and within all council areas.
16. In our letter of 29 March 1996, all councils were informed of the proposed methodology and future pattern of representation for their council area. Councils were requested to make any representations they wished on numbers of councillors by 29 April 1996 so that a meeting could be arranged with the Deputy Chairman and Secretary to discuss the pattern of representation and any matters regarding our review that the Council wished to raise. Following visits to all councils by the Deputy Chairman and Secretary to discuss the proposed methodology and to consider alternatives which could be applied across Scotland, no alternative methodologies were offered but a number of councils suggested that the underlying classification should be amended to include an additional category.
17. At our meeting of 17 June 1996, we re-examined the criteria to be used to categorise mainland councils with similar characteristics in light of the representations made by a number of councils. We concluded that there should be 6 rather than 5 categories. The final categorisation of similar mainland councils was then agreed as follows:

- Category 1 Large Cities Glasgow and Edinburgh.
- Category 2 Cities Aberdeen and Dundee.

- Category 3 Authorities with less than 60% of the population living outwith settlements of 10,000 or more persons AND an overall population density of one person or more per hectare.
- Category 4 Authorities with EITHER 60% or more of the population living outwith settlements of 10,000 or more persons OR an overall population density of less than one person per hectare.
- Category 5 Authorities with 60% or more of the population living outwith settlements of 10,000 or more persons AND an overall population density of less than one person per hectare.
- Category 6 Authorities with 60% or more of the population living outwith settlements of 10,000 or more persons AND an overall population density of less than 0.2 persons per hectare.

18. In addition to the 6 categories we then determined the ratio of councillors to electorate for mainland councils that would allow for efficient management and appropriate representation, as set out in paragraphs 11 - 14 above, and considered that the following would be appropriate:

- | | |
|--------------|---------|
| • Category 1 | 1:6,000 |
| • Category 2 | 1:4,000 |
| • Category 3 | 1:3,500 |
| • Category 4 | 1:3,000 |
| • Category 5 | 1:2,500 |
| • Category 6 | 1:2,000 |

19. On 20 June 1996 we wrote to all mainland councils informing them of the revised criteria for determining councillor numbers and inviting them to prepare a draft scheme of electoral arrangements for their Council area. Following upon that, Aberdeen City Council brought a petition for Judicial Review of the decision taken by us at our meeting of 17 June, 1996 in the Court of Session. In it they sought a decree of declarator that that decision in relation to them was unlawful, ultra vires and null and void; they also sought a decree of reduction of the decision in relation to them and certain ancillary remedies. We resisted this petition, which was dismissed by the Court on 20 December 1996 after a hearing.

20. We considered the ratio of councillors to electors for the 3 islands councils at our meeting of 26 August 1996 and concluded that the appropriate ratio would be 1:750. On 28 August 1996 we wrote to these councils informing them of our decision.

21. On 21 July 1996 South Lanarkshire Council acknowledged our decision that 67 wards were appropriate for its area and expressed disappointment at what, it considered, was the unsatisfactory manner in which we had responded to earlier submissions regarding the appropriate level of representation for its area. On 30

July 1996 our Deputy Chairman met with Council officials to discuss the problems faced by the Council in preparing a scheme of 67 electoral wards.

22. Following that meeting the Council wrote on 19 August 1996 to request that we reconsider our proposal for a Council of 67 members. The Council noted that the population density in the rural tract of the Council area was 0.57 persons per hectare but that in 4 of the existing wards the density ranged between 0.04 and 0.23 persons per hectare. Since all major population centres were concentrated in the north west sector of the Council area, and 69% of the population resided within 7% of the total land area, it argued that the extent of the rural areas within the former Clydesdale District Council area meant that there was limited scope to make any material changes to the existing wards other than by creating wards which were of such a land mass that they would be impossible to represent effectively. The Council believed that there was an overwhelming case to support the view that the Council area could not be considered under Category 3 of our classification. It was also submitted that there was scope under the statutory rules for us to consider quite separately the level of representation within the Council's rural area and the question of a weighting factor which might be applied on the grounds of special geographical circumstances.
23. We carefully considered the arguments submitted by the Council regarding the special circumstances which it perceived merited the creation of an additional category within our classification of Councils. Whilst we recognised the difficulties faced by the Council, we concluded that the 6 existing categories in our classification had been created following widespread consultation and detailed consideration of representations made by a number of Councils. We further concluded that our classification of Councils reflected a pattern throughout Scotland which was equitable. It was also argued that there was a case for allowing electoral parity in South Lanarkshire Council Area to be calculated using two separate ratios of electors to councillors which would reflect the sparsity of population in the Council's rural areas. Legal opinion was sought and it was confirmed that the rules set out in Schedule 6 to the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973 as amended by the Local Government etc. (Scotland) Act 1994 did not allow us to calculate parity on a disparate basis within a Council area.
24. We wrote to the Council on 30 August 1996 to say that, having considered its request that we reconsider its inclusion in Category 3 of our classification, we concluded that the particular characteristics of the Council area justified its inclusion in Category 3. We asked that the Council prepare a draft scheme for 67 wards and said that we would look sympathetically at any difficulties in the rural hinterland of its area.

South Lanarkshire Council's Proposals

25. The Council submitted a scheme of electoral arrangements for 67 wards on 20 February 1997, and advertised its draft proposal in local newspapers, asking that representation be made to the Commission and the Council by 24 March 1997.

26. As a result of the public consultation exercise 183 representations were received as set out below. The Council was invited to comment and, where appropriate, to provide revised electorate data so that the impact of making revisions to its draft proposals could be assessed.
27. The Scottish National Party, Clydesdale Constituency, wrote to say that the Council's proposals were seen, as far as Stonehouse was concerned, as a number counting exercise with no consideration being given to the statutory rule concerning special geographical circumstances. There was a strong case to designate Clydesdale as a rural area. Stonehouse parish was one of the oldest in Scotland and was often spoken of as being surrounded by water although a section of the parish had been removed from the ward at a previous boundary review. Treating Stonehouse as a single entity would create a ward which far exceeded the number assumed for an urban ward, but the Council's proposals would undoubtedly destroy the strong community feeling. To attach the old village of Stonehouse to Larkhall would be seen in the worst possible light. Examination of the map indicated a tortuous route which divided the two proposed wards. This manipulation of numbers was of no use to the community. The present electorate of Stonehouse was approximately 4,000 but house building would increase this to around 5,000 in 2001 which constituted two rural wards. In such circumstances it would not matter how the split was achieved as long as it meant two Stonehouse wards. Arguments for keeping communities together should not be dismissed and there was nothing wrong with a council area having a mix of urban and rural wards. The Council's proposals should be consigned to the dustbin and replaced.
28. Andrew Doig, Scottish National Party prospective parliamentary candidate, Clydesdale Constituency, wrote calling for a public enquiry into the Council's proposals which reduced the number of wards in the Clydesdale area. Many local people objected to our classification of the Council area and to the Council's proposals which it was considered broke established commercial and economic links between various towns and villages. He asked that we review our proposals to cut the representation in Clydesdale by three seats as, like Angus and Stirling Councils, it had a unique mixture of rural/urban population. Further, it was unacceptable to abolish Carlisle West since Carlisle was one of the largest towns and to remove the traditional links between Carnwath, Auchenheth and Tarbrax, with the latter areas being incorporated into a new Forth Ward. Many were concerned that the proposals were an attempt at gerrymandering boundaries. It was also considered unfortunate that an independent Commission had not reviewed the boundaries for unitary authorities as had been the case in England and Wales, as there was a strong case for Clydesdale being a unitary authority. We were asked to review the boundaries of South Lanarkshire Council and create a new Clydesdale Council.
29. A letter was received which suggested an alternative to the Council's proposals in the Stonehouse area which it believed would allow most of the village centre to remain in Stonehouse Ward.

30. Councillor Dr Dear wrote to object to the proposals for Silvertonhill Ward and to offer an alternative proposal which addressed two main areas of concern - the isolation of Sycamore Drive and Lilac Hill from the ward and the inclusion of streets which were of a different housing type, had no affinity with Silvertonhill and had long-standing links with the Low Waters Ward. The Council's proposals also meant that the Carlow Bridge shopping area was split and it made sense to retain it within one ward.
31. Stonehouse Community Council argued that the Village had a distinct character and nature and should be retained as a single ward if possible. If this was not possible then it proposed a revision to the boundary proposed by the Council which would have the effect of leaving the bulk of the village centre in the Stonehouse Ward. The village was a rural area and, as such, could be divided into two wards of around 2,500 electors.
32. A letter asked why Carluke West was to be doubled in size and somehow joined to another area. The new system should be given time to settle down and, thereafter, a conference should be called to determine if changes were necessary. To ask South Lanarkshire Council to suggest changes was quite wrong as it had more important things to do. If changes had to be made, it should be the Commission who should decide what had to be done.
33. Fairhill Branch Labour Party expressed dismay at proposals to break up the Fairhill Ward which had a long and honourable tradition as a distinctive community within Hamilton. It was deeply saddened at the prospect of the loss of identity and asked that we reconsider the Council's proposals and restore Fairhill Ward approximately to its former status.
34. Twenty one letters were received asking for a public enquiry into the Council's proposals for Forth Ward.
35. A letter was received asking that Ward 67 should be renamed Cambuslang West.
36. Tarbrax Community Council objected to the Council's proposals to remove Auchengray, Woolfords and Tarbrax from Carnwath District and include them with Forth. Councillor Gauld had been elected specifically because of his cultural affinity as a Carnwath resident. All of the children attend Carnwath and Auchengray Primary Schools, Councillor Gauld is the Church of Scotland Minister and Carnwath is the area's Mother Church. Further, three villages in the A70 corridor are directed to Carnwath, whereas Forth is an alien concept.
37. Eighty letters duplicating Tarbrax Community Council's representation were also received.
38. Jackton and Thorntonhall Community Council were satisfied with the Council's proposals for its area.

39. A letter was received which expressed disapproval of the proposed changes to the Carluke West Ward boundary. The changes linked the area to others with which it had nothing in common.
40. A letter was received which stated that the correspondent completely agreed with the proposals for the Clyde Valley Ward.
41. A letter was received which expressed support for revised proposals which the correspondent believed had been submitted by the Scottish National Party.
42. Councillor David Shearer asked that any changes to the Law/Carluk Ward should reflect the nature of the existing ward with its mix of villages and farms. The topography suggested that Law was an island community with no real ties to Carluk and trying to incorporate more of Carluk in the Law Ward was a disaster waiting to happen. The people of both Carluk and Law did not want the change. Law was a self-contained unit which did not need electorate from Carluk to make up electoral numbers as only a further 250 houses were needed to bring the electorate up to parity.
43. Carluk Community Council wrote to submit its strongest objections to the Council's proposals. It was quite unreasonable to split Carluk in a way which showed little regard for the town and the ramifications that such changes would have. The town would be deprived of its proper representation as councillors would have to share their loyalties with localities which had totally different circumstances. It asked what people living in Unitas Crescent had in common with the people of Kirkfieldbank and what those in Braidwood had in common with the residents of Forth. The main reason for change appeared to be to balance numbers in wards but, whilst this may look fine on paper, it took no account of the effect on the people concerned. It asked if a numerically balanced ward was preferable to a balanced ward representative of a community. An alternative scheme which maintained Unitas Crescent, Salvesen and Braidwood within Carluk was proposed. A further alternative would link Braidwood with Clyde Valley. The Community Council also considered that Carluk should have three councillors and a full public enquiry should be held before any final decision was made.
44. Thirty one letters which requested a public enquiry into the Council's proposals for Carluk West Ward were received.
45. Five letters were received which offered support for the views of Councillor Dear.
46. A letter was received which stated an objection to Juniper Street being transferred from Silvertonhill Ward.
47. A letter was received which stated that the residents of Carluk West were a close and complete community which would be damaged by links to Law or any other surrounding area. The status quo should remain.

48. A letter was received which objected to the lack of consultation and effective participation in the proposed revision of electoral wards. The Council's proposals were unacceptable in terms of the representation of rural areas.
49. A letter was received which stated an objection to Maples Bank being transferred from Silvertonhill Ward.
50. A letter was received which stated an objection to Hazel Park being transferred from Silvertonhill Ward.
51. A letter was received which objected to the proposals for Carluke West Ward. Although Carluke was the largest centre of population in the former Clydesdale District, various factors had mitigated against a sense of community and civic pride. Further, there was no instance of Central or Local Government Offices, or facilities serving the wider area, being located in Carluke. The proposed representation would see half the town represented by councillors based in centres of population five or ten miles distant, which had no sense of community interest with Carluke. We were asked to find a solution which achieved a balance between equality of numbers and the preservation of community identities.
52. Burnside Community Council submitted detailed alternative proposals for Hallside, Cairns, Cambuslang Central, Kirkhill/Whitlawburn, Cathkin/Springhall, Fernhill/Blairbeith, Spittal/Bankhead, Rutherglen West, Rutherglen Central (Burgh), Rutherglen East/Eastfield, Stonelaw/Overtoun Park and Burnside which it believed met the statutory rules. The electorate data provided were based on the figures used in South Lanarkshire Council's proposals.
53. Councillor David Watson submitted detailed proposals for the Hairmyres/Crosshouse, Mossneuk/Kittoch and Lindsay areas.
54. Councillor Ian Gray wrote to register an objection to the Council's proposals regarding Carluke West. The area had been the subject of three alterations since 1975 which, in part, reflected the growth of population in the Carluke area. It beggared belief that Braidwood was to be allocated to the Forth Ward, as it had no links with that area. It was a village in its own right and was a satellite of Carluke, as reflected in the local plan. The proposals for Jock's Burn invited the same comment as for Braidwood. Additionally, the proposals represented wrenching out part of the core of Carluke and placing it with a rural community with which it shared nothing. This was true also for the areas covered by the Salvesen Estate, Shieldhill Road, Milton Crescent and Glenburn Terrace and to say otherwise, would be a gross distortion. The Council's claim that the proposed boundaries followed geographical features and produced clearly defined boundaries suggested that its grasp of geography was limited. He asked that we reject the Council's proposals and replace them with boundaries which reflected the reality and the needs of the people in Carluke and Braidwood
55. A petition with 258 signatures was received from the residents of Braidwood objecting to the Council's proposals and asking that a local enquiry be held.

56. Westwood Community Council noted the Council's proposals but were surprised that the Hairmyres Ward would be split. No alternative proposal was made.
57. North Clydeside Scottish National Party proposed that the Varney Estate should not be separated into two wards and should remain intact, retaining a community spirit. Further, a number of houses in Keir Hardie Drive should be included in the Dalserf Ward as had previously been the case.
58. A letter was received which objected to the Council's proposals to include Braidwood Village with Forth. Braidwood was one mile from Carluke and, for the most part, people shopped there, children went to school there and the majority of church-goers attended Carluke churches. Further, Braidwood residents were patients of the medical practitioners in Carluke, the postal address was Carluke and people used the Carluke Swimming Pool, Library, Community Centre and other amenities. Putting Braidwood with Forth was manifestly ludicrous and, similarly, putting Unitas Crescent and the Salvesen Estate in Clyde Valley was nonsensical. The proposed disbandment of the Carluke West Ward gave rise to public concern and should be the subject of a local enquiry.
59. A letter was received which considered it discouraging to see South Lanarkshire Council reorganising ward boundaries in an extremely strange way. The proposals for Forth and Carluke West were especially puzzling and it was hoped that the Commission would consider a more logical alternative in line with the wishes of residents.
60. Two letters were received which agreed with the Council's proposals for the villages of Kirkfieldbank, Crossford and Auchenheath.
61. A letter was received which objected to the Council's proposal to do away with Carluke West Ward.
62. A letter was received which supported the views of the Scottish National Party (North Clydeside) regarding Strutherhill and Stonehouse.
63. A letter was received which stated that the correspondent was not happy with the Council's proposals and we should revise them.
64. A letter asked us to reconsider the Council's proposals for Silvertonhill Ward.
65. A letter was received which expressed total outrage at the Council's proposals for Carluke and Braidwood and suggested that there needed to be a radical rethink to ensure that a balance of representation was achieved.
66. A letter was received to say that the correspondent had not seen the Council's proposals but understood that the situation was staying much as it had been.

67. Libberton and Quothquan Community Council agreed in principle with the Council's proposals for the Duneaton/Carmichael Ward but strongly protested at the boundary which split the parish of Libberton and Quothquan and meant that a part was transferred to the Biggar/Blackmount area.
68. Councillor Gordon Chapman appealed against the Council's proposal to remove the Burnside Ward as he considered that it had failed to follow the principles of a review by ignoring the fact that Burnside was a clearly identifiable community. The area known as Burnside would be served by four wards, none of which would be easily identifiable to members of the Burnside community. Local ties would be broken and, as a result, residents of Burnside had expressed great concern that there would be no representative to speak for them. There was strong opposition to areas being moved into another ward. The Councillor believed that one of the smallest wards had been singled out for removal without any due regard to existing communities of interest. The proposals did not serve adjacent wards. It was proposed that the whole area be reviewed with a view to making a Burnside Ward which could represent the needs of the local community. An alternative plan was offered.
69. A letter was received which stated that it assumed that the proposals for the Braidwood area were to do with the numbers game and it opposed the Council's proposals.
70. A letter was received which objected to the Council's proposals to remove Barrside Way, Dale Way, Kirkbean Avenue and Woodend from Fernhill Ward which would split up a well established community.
71. Cathkin Braes Tenants Management Co-operative objected to the Council's proposals for Ward 70 because they did not adhere to the local community aspect of boundary change criteria.
72. Six letters were received asking for a public enquiry into the Council's proposals for Carluke West Ward.
73. Kilncadzow Residents' Association wrote to say that the Council's decision to locate Kilncadzow with Forth rather than Carluke was complete and utter madness. The Association considered that the ward boundary should remain as it is and enclosed a petition with 35 signatures which supported its views.
74. As we mention above, South Lanarkshire Council were asked to provide detailed counts of the numbers of electors in areas where representations had made detailed alternative proposals. Further, officers of the Commission also obtained counts of the numbers of electors involved in areas where representations suggested that alternative solutions to the Council's proposals would be possible or where it was thought that modification of the Council's proposals could be undertaken which, while not fully adopting the proposals made in representations, would allow some movement towards a compromise.

75. We considered the additional information provided by the Council and made a number of amendments to the Council's draft scheme where it seemed to us to be desirable and practicable to do so. In many areas, however, we were unable to adopt changes proposed in representations because of the significantly adverse impact on electoral parity or because the changes created a need for consequential alterations to ward boundaries across the wider council area which in turn affected wards from which we had received few, if any, representations. We concluded that representations made in respect of the Council's draft proposals for certain areas could be reconsidered in the light of the reaction to our provisional proposals.

Publication of Commission's Provisional Proposals

76. Public notice was given of the publication of our provisional proposals on 23 October 1997. South Lanarkshire Council was asked to make available for inspection at its offices copies of the electoral ward boundary descriptions, electoral statistics and illustrative maps. Additionally, copies of our proposals were sent to all who had received our consultation letter or had expressed an interest. We asked that any comments should be made to us by 20 November 1997.

Consideration of Representations

77. One hundred and twenty letters were received:

- South Lanarkshire Council wrote to say that it endorsed all of our proposals. With regard to ward names, the Council supported requests for 'Kelvin', 'Uddingston North' and 'Biggar and Black Mount' to be changed to 'Heatheryknowe', 'Uddingston' and 'Biggar, Symington and Blackmount' but was unable to agree to change the names of 'Wellhall/ Earnock', 'Earnock' or 'Eastfield' Wards.
- Burnside Community Council was disappointed that we did not include proposals for a ward centred on the Burnside Community area and wished to restate its earlier representation. We again considered the Community Council's request but we concluded that, within the overall scheme of electoral representation for the Council area, it would not be possible to create a ward which wholly encompassed the area in question without considerable consequential changes to other wards across the Council area which would undoubtedly impact on other communities. We were, accordingly, unable to agree to the request for a 'Burnside' Ward.
- Jackton and Thorntonhall Community Council was pleased to agree with our proposals. We noted the Community Council's views.

- Stonehouse Community Council wrote to say that most of the people who attended a meeting to discuss our proposals were angry because it was felt that they would rip the heart out of Stonehouse. This was because, under our proposals, the public halls, churches, pubs, main shopping centre and post office would be in the Larkhall Ward. The unanimous view was that the village should be left as a single unit but, if this was not possible, then some of the rural areas which comprised part of the old Stonehouse parish could warrant two wards for the village and its surrounds. A map showing a revised boundary, which would be more easily understood as a division, was provided. The Community Council further wrote to say that Council sources had informed it that, if there was insufficient time for the Commission to hold a public enquiry before the date set for the 1999 electoral registers, our proposals would be imposed. They asked for the opportunity to discuss the position and mentioned that a petition with 600 signatures had been compiled.

We examined the impact on electoral parity of the change proposed by the Community Council and concluded that amending the boundary as requested would alter the deviation from electoral parity in our proposals from a balance of 4% and 5% to 1% and 8%. We were, therefore, not prepared to adopt the change.

- Symington Community Council wrote that the ward in which it was included should be named Biggar, Symington and Blackmount. Following consultation with the Council, we agreed to the change of name proposed.
- Councillor Chapman asked that we reconsider his earlier representations for the retention of the Burnside Ward because there was strong public support for a ward which reflected a clearly defined community. Further, our proposals failed to take this central and key issue into account and there was widespread dismay that people living in Burnside would, in future, be associated politically with other areas which are vaguely defined, have no sense of community and with which the people of Burnside have no association. We re-examined the Councillor's representations but considered that, within the overall scheme of electoral representation for the Council area, it would not be possible to create a ward which wholly encompassed the Burnside area without considerable consequential changes to other wards across the Council area which would undoubtedly impact on other communities. We further concluded that our proposals addressed the broad needs of the wider area within the context of the statutory rules and we were, accordingly, unable to agree to the request for a 'Burnside' Ward.
- Councillor Dear wished to restate his earlier expressed views. We noted that the alternative proposals submitted by the Councillor resulted in a deviation from electoral parity for the four wards concerned of 3%, 1%, 25% and 0% compared with -2%, 3%, 15% and 2% in our proposals which reflected the Council's initial draft and we, therefore, concluded that we could not adopt the revision proposed because of the adverse impact on electoral parity.

- Councillor Gibb wrote to say that he considered that Stonehouse Community Council's proposals for Stonehouse were flawed in a number of respects. He further wished to place on record that the Community Council was totally inaccurate in stating that he was not happy with our proposals as this was not the case. If, however, we were minded to revise the proposed ward boundaries, he suggested that the village should be divided along the line of the A71. We noted the Councillor's comments but, as we mention above, we concluded that there should be no change to our provisional proposals for the area concerned.
- Councillor Gray wrote to say that he was surprised that no apparent consideration had been given to his concerns regarding the cavalier treatment of the current Ward 14. It seemed that not only South Lanarkshire Council lacked knowledge of the area. He restated his earlier representation and suggested that a local enquiry would be appropriate.
- Councillor Morgan wrote to say that the ward name 'Uddingston North' should be altered to 'Uddingston Village' or 'Uddingston'. Following consultation with the Council, we agreed to change the ward name to 'Uddingston'.
- Councillor Scott wrote to support a request for Kelvin Ward to be renamed 'Heatheryknowe'. Following consultation with the Council we agreed to the change of name proposed.
- Councillor Watson asked that we look again at his earlier representation and judge it against the statutory rules. He contended that the principles adopted for this review should be a) the desirability of fixing boundaries which are and will remain easily identifiable, b) the consideration of local ties which would be broken by the fixing of particular boundaries and c) the formulation of proposals which not only achieve numerical voting equity across the Council area but which also continue to reflect community interest. It was argued that our proposals failed to meet these criteria whereas the alternative proposals submitted earlier by the Councillor did. Further, the adoption of our proposals would mean more work for councillors and would mean councillors attending more than one school board or Community Council meeting, as the ward boundaries did not reflect natural communities.

We noted the Councillor's views but concluded that our proposals were wholly consistent with the application of the statutory rules, the most important of which concerned electoral parity. We also concluded that, whilst the Councillor's proposals contained the whole of the Hairmyres area within a single ward, the boundaries were contrived and to the detriment of wider community interests. Accordingly, we were unable to amend our proposals.

- The Scottish National Party, Stonehouse, indicated its support for the views of the Community Council with regard to our proposals for Stonehouse. We noted the views expressed but took the view that our previous decision on the representations of the Community Council should stand.

- The Scottish National Party, Hamilton South Constituency Branch asked that we rename Ward 44 'Wellhall/Little Earnock' and that the houses in Graham Avenue and Hollandbush Grove should remain in Ward 50 as there was no justification for moving them into Ward 48. The houses within Maple Bank, Larch Grove and part of Silvertonhill Avenue should remain in Ward 49 as they had no connection with Ward 47. It maintained that Burnbank and Blantyre were two separate areas and that the ward boundaries should be adjusted to create two wards named 'Burnbank and Udston' and 'Blantyre East' respectively. The Branch noted also that there was a presumption that the projected electorate for Ward 42 would reach approximately 3,700 by 2001 but this was doubted because the question of housing development was subject to a public enquiry which had not been adopted by the Secretary of State.

We consulted the Council on the issues raised. With regard to the name of Ward 44, we noted that the Council was unable to support the request because the revised name did not accurately reflect the area concerned and, as it is our general policy to accept the advice of Councils regarding ward names, we were unable to adopt the change. We asked the Council to provide details of the electorate involved in the proposal that a number of properties should remain in Ward 50. The information provided to us indicated that the suggested change would alter the electoral parity in Wards 48 and 50 from 1% and 3% in our proposals to -4% and 8% and, accordingly, we concluded that the proposed amendment was not acceptable.

The Branch's proposal to alter the boundary between Wards 47 and 49 was also rejected because of the impact the change would have on electoral parity, which was balanced at 3% and 2% respectively in our proposals but which moved to 0 and 6% in the alternative offered. We consulted the Council with regard to the proposal that Burnbank and Blantyre should not be associated on the basis that the association breaks historic ties. We were informed that the alternative proposal offered would create a Burnbank/Udston Ward which had a divergence from electoral parity of 99% and that major amendments to the boundaries of a number of other wards would be required to accommodate the change. These additional amendments would also produce wards with divergences from parity ranging between -9% and 44% compared with -4% to 3% in our proposals. Accordingly, we were not prepared to accept the proposed change because of the significantly adverse impact on electoral parity.

With regard to the comments made in respect of Ward 42, we consulted the Council which informed us that no additional assumptions had been made regarding expected house completions by 2001 in the area in question and that the forecast electorate of 3,070 was fully consistent with the Council's House Build Programme.

- The Scottish National Party, Carluke Branch, wrote to register a strong objection to our proposals insofar as they affected the parish of Carluke. The Branch considered that our proposals paid scant regard to rule 1(3) of the Schedule 6 rules since it appeared that some of the new boundaries were so contrived as to be far from easily identifiable. It believed that strong local feeling had been ignored and urged that we arrange a local meeting. The Branch forwarded an alternative scheme for the Carluke area which, it believed, would be more acceptable.

We concluded that there was no valid reason why a public meeting should be held and that it was entirely appropriate for us to consider representations on the basis of information already available to us. We further concluded that, in making proposals in the areas concerned, we had had proper regard to the statutory rules. We carefully examined the counter-proposals presented to us and asked the Council to provide detailed counts of the electorate for the areas in question. We noted that the divergence from parity in our provisional proposals for the relevant wards ranged between -2% and 8%. In comparison the alternative boundaries proposed produced divergences from electoral parity ranging between -13% and 18%. We were not prepared to amend our provisional proposals as requested because of the significantly adverse impact on electoral parity

- A letter was received which objected to our proposal to associate an area in the existing Silvertonhill Ward with the Ferniegair Ward on the grounds that there was no linkage between the two areas. The correspondent further considered that Graham Avenue/Hollandbush should be part of Cadzow Ward. We were asked why Hillhouse Ward, which had 3,070 voters, should be retained because new houses proposed for the area were the subject of a public enquiry. It was thought that the new ward of Burnbank/Blantyre broke historical ties. Blantyre was an area in its own right and a new electoral area of Udston/Burnbank would be more suitable. The names of 'Wellhall/Earnock' and 'Earnock' would cause confusion amongst voters and should be renamed 'Wellhall/Little Earnock' and 'High Earnock' respectively.

With regard to the boundary between Silvertonhill Ward and Ferniegair Ward and the content of Cadzow Ward, we noted that the boundaries we proposed produced a balanced electorate. In Silvertonhill and Ferniegair Wards the alternatives proposed led to a divergence from parity of 6% and 0% rather than the balance of 3% and 2% in our proposals. Making the changes requested in Cadzow Ward would alter parity from 1% and 3% in our proposals to -4% and 8%. We were, therefore, not prepared to adopt the changes proposed. With regard to the Hillhouse Ward, we discuss the issue when addressing the representations received from The Scottish National Party, Hamilton South Constituency Branch above. We consulted the Council about changes to ward names. The Council could not support the changes and, accordingly, we were unable to accept the proposed name changes.

- A letter asked that Ward 61 be renamed 'Cambuslang West'. We consulted the Council which concluded that the name of the ward should remain as 'Cairns' as designated in our proposals.
- Fifty-four letters asked for a public enquiry in relation to our proposals for Carluke and Braidwood.
- Six letters were received which considered that our proposals to split the town of Carluke and the village of Braidwood would damage the identity of the local community, were not in the communities best interests and were ridiculous. A number of the correspondents stated that they wished to remain in Carluke West. It was also thought that the Carluke area deserved 3 wards.

We concluded that there was no valid reason to conduct a public enquiry and that it was entirely appropriate for us to consider all of the representations received regarding Carluke West, Law etc. on the basis of information available to us. We considered the alternatives open to us by way of revising ward boundaries in this area, but were conscious that electoral parity in all of the wards in the immediate vicinity varied from electoral parity by more than 5%. Maintaining the existing ward boundaries in the area was not a viable option because of the adverse impact on electoral parity. Further, it was not possible to adjust the boundaries we proposed without creating significant imbalances in electoral parity. Accordingly, we concluded that the boundaries we proposed could not be reasonably altered.

- Forty pro forma letters objected to our proposals for Auchengray, Woolfords and Tarbrax and preferred existing arrangements. The correspondents stated that they had elected Councillor Gauld specifically because of his cultural affinity as a Carnwath resident. All of the children attend Carnwath and Auchengray Primary Schools. Councillor Gauld is the Church of Scotland Minister and Carnwath was the area's Mother Church. Further, the three villages in the A70 corridor were directed to Carnwath whereas Forth was an alien concept. Auchengray Primary School and the doctors and dispensing chemists for the area were based in Carnwath.

Various counter proposals regarding the areas in question had been made earlier in the review. Electorate data provided by the Council indicated that accepting such amendments would result in deviations from parity ranging between -9% and 10%, which we considered could not be accepted. We noted the views expressed but were not prepared to amend our proposals in this area because of the adverse effect on electoral parity of adopting the counter-proposals submitted to us.

- Kilncadzow Resident's Association wished to reiterate its objection to being included with Forth and stated that it would prefer the status quo. We noted the views expressed but, bearing in mind the revisions across the wider Council area, we were not prepared to agree to the request.

- A letter restating in full the views of the Scottish National Party, Carluke Branch was received. We noted the views expressed which we discuss in our response to the representation from the Scottish National Party, Carluke Branch, above.
- A letter was received asking that we consider retaining the name of 'Burnside' so that people could remain part of their community. We consulted the Council which was unable to support this request because the area in question had been subsumed into three wards and we were, therefore, unable to accept the proposal.

Final Recommendation

78. Having conducted the third statutory review of electoral arrangements for South Lanarkshire Council area in accordance with the procedures described above, we recommend that future electoral arrangements for the said Council should provide for a Council of 67 members.
79. The designation of the electoral wards that we recommend for South Lanarkshire Council, together with information which we have received from the Council as to the 1996 electorate and forecast 2001 electorate of the proposed wards are set out at Appendix B to this report.
80. The boundaries of the proposed electoral wards are described in Appendix C and the following illustrative maps accompany this report:

Map	Area	Scale
1A	South Lanarkshire Council Area	1:50,000
1B	South Lanarkshire Council Area	1:50,000
2	Cambuslang/Blantyre/Uddingston	1:10,000

Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973: Schedule 6
(As amended by the Local Government etc. (Scotland) Act 1994)
Rules to be Observed in Considering Electoral Arrangements

1. (1) This Schedule applies to the consideration by the Secretary of State or the Boundary Commission of the electoral arrangements for election of councillors of local government areas.
 - (2) Having regard to any change in the number or distribution of electors of a local government area likely to take place within the period of five years immediately following the consideration, the number of local government electors shall be, as nearly as may be, the same in every electoral area of that local government area.
 - (3) Subject to sub-paragraph (2) above, in considering the electoral arrangements referred to in sub-paragraph (1) above regard shall be had to-
 - (a) the desirability of fixing boundaries which are and will remain easily identifiable;
 - (b) any local ties which would be broken by the fixing of any particular boundary.
2. The strict application of the rule stated in paragraph 1(2) above may be departed from in any area where special geographical conditions appear to render a departure desirable.

Descriptions of Boundaries

Notes:

In the following description of boundaries:

- ♦ a reference to a road, footpath, railway line, river, burn or canal shall, where the context so admits, be construed as the centre line of the feature concerned; and
- ♦ the following abbreviations are used:

EW for Electoral Ward

NG Ref for National Grid Reference as published on Ordnance Survey Maps.

Lanark North

Commencing at NG Ref NS 8687 4399 at the junction of the A72 road and Mousemill Road; then generally northwestward along Mousemill Road to a track at NG Ref NS 8685 4425; then northeastward along the said track to where it crosses the Mouse Water at NG Ref NS 8692 4429; then generally northeastward along the said water to where it is crossed by the A706 road at Cleghorn Bridge NG Ref NS 9047 4526; then southeastward and southwestward along the said road to its junction with Stanmore Road; then southwestward along the said road to its junction with the A743 road; then southwestward along the said road to its junction with the A73(T) road; then northwestward along the said road to its junction with the A72 road; then southwestward, northwestward and southwestward along the said road to the point of commencement.

Lanark South

Commencing at NG Ref NS 8687 4399 at the junction of the A72 road and Mousemill Road on the southern boundary of EW 1; then generally eastward along the said EW boundary to the junction of Stanmore Road and the A743 road; then generally eastward along the A743 road to a point in line with a field boundary NG Ref NS 9082 4439; then generally southward along the said field boundary to where it crosses the Sandy Burn NG Ref NS 9103 4308; then generally eastward along the said burn to where it is crossed by Sandyford Bridge and the A70 road; then southwestward along the said road to a point in line with a field boundary at NG Ref NS 9150 4272; then northwestward and southwestward along the said field boundary to a field boundary at NG Ref NS 9103 4292; then generally southward along the said field boundary to a field boundary at NG Ref NS 9102 4265; then southeastward and southward along the said field boundary and its continuation in a straight line to a point on the A73(T) road at NG Ref NS 9102 4224; then southeastward along the said road to a point in line with a field boundary at NG Ref NS 9104 4223; then generally southwestward along the said field boundary, past the property known as Hyndford, to NG Ref NS 9064 4158; then southward in a straight line to a point on the River Clyde at NG Ref NS 9062 4135; then generally southwestward and northwestward along the said river to where it is crossed by Kirkfieldbank Bridge and the A72 road; then northeastward along the said road to the point of commencement.

Lesmahagow

Commencing at a point on the Back Burn at NG Ref NS 7203 3712; then eastward in a straight line to a point on the Lochfennoch Burn at NG Ref NS 7335 3711; then northeastward and southeastward along the said burn to the northern boundary of Dunside Reservoirs; then northeastward and southeastward along the said boundary to an unnamed track leading to the property known as Auchrobert; then southeastward and northeastward along the said track, past Auchrobert, to an unnamed road leading northwestward to the B7086 road; then southeastward along the said unnamed road to, and northeastward along, a track leading to the property known as Lawriesmuir to the point where it crosses Birkwood Burn NG Ref NS 7789 3884; then generally northeastward along the said burn to where it is crossed by the B7086 road NG Ref NS 8055 4308; then northeastward along the said road to NG Ref NS 8065 4315; then northeastward along an unnamed path to Woods Farm; then northeastward along field boundaries to Newkayes Road, along the southern boundary of the property known as Knowetop; then southeastward and generally eastward along the said road to NG Ref NS 8408 4312 and its junction with an unnamed road on the western side of the property known as Vere Hills; then generally southeastward along the said road to a point in line with a field boundary at NG Ref NS 8454 4239; then generally eastward along field boundaries to an access road leading to the property known as Teaths at NG Ref NS 8509 4236; then northeastward along the said access road to a point in line with a field boundary at NG Ref NS 8510 4245; then generally southeastward and northeastward along field boundaries to Greenrig Road at NG Ref NS 8562 4239; then generally northeastward, southeastward and northeastward along the said road to an unnamed road at NG Ref NS 8664 4275, south of Newhouse Farm; then southeastward along the said unnamed road to NG Ref NS 8717 4155 and its junction with an unnamed road on the northern side of the property known as Greenhead; then northeastward along the said road to its junction with Byretown Road; then northeastward along Byretown Road to NG Ref NS 8757 4198 where it meets the western boundary of the Falls of Clyde Nature Reserve; then northeastward, northwestward and northeastward along the said boundary to NG Ref NS 8784 4263 where it meets the River Clyde and the western boundary of EW 2; then generally southeastward along the said EW boundary to the Douglas Water; then generally southwestward along the said water to a point in line with a field boundary at NG Ref NS 8867 3880; then northwestward along the said field boundary, passing on the northern side of the property known as Mitchland to an unnamed track at NG Ref NS 8843 3910; then northeastward along the said unnamed track to its junction with Kirkfieldbank Road; then northwestward along the said road to NG Ref NS 8832 3941 and a point in line with a field boundary; then northwestward to and northwestward, southwestward, northwestward and southwestward along the said field boundary to an unnamed road at NG Ref NS 8616 3866; then southwestward across the said road to and southwestward along a field boundary to a field boundary at NG Ref NS 8543 3838; then northwestward, northeastward and northwestward along the said field boundary to a field boundary at NG Ref NS 8525 3861; then southwestward, northwestward and westward along field boundaries to a field boundary at NG Ref NS 8485 3846; then northwestward and southwestward along field boundaries to an unnamed road at NG Ref NS 8446 3837; then northward along the said road to a point in line with a field boundary at NG Ref NS 8443 3872; then southwestward, northwestward and southwestward along field boundaries to NG Ref NS 8348 3876, to the northeast of the property known as Righead; then southeastward in a straight line to NG Ref NS 8434 3734 and the northern boundary of a wooded area on Broken Cross Muir; then southwestward and southeastward along the northern and western boundaries of the said wooded area to NG Ref NS 8422 3652; then southwestward in a straight line to a point on the M74 at NG Ref NS 8405 3635; then southwestward in a straight line to NG Ref NS 8380 3612; then northwestward in a straight line to an unnamed road leading from Coalburn to Lesmahagow at NG Ref NS 8139 3706; then generally northwestward along the said road to the point where it crosses the River Nethan at NG Ref NS 8103 3771; then generally southwestward along the said river to the western boundary of South Lanarkshire Council; then generally northwestward along the said Council boundary to NG Ref NS 7152 3508; then northward in a straight line to NG Ref NS 7146 3589; then northeastward in a straight line to NG Ref NS 7180 3600; then northwestward in a straight line to NG Ref NS 7164 3662; then northeastward in a straight line to NG Ref NS 7190 3687 and a point on the Back Burn; then northeastward along the said burn to the point of commencement.

Blackwood

Commencing at NG Ref NS 7846 4595 where the Dalsarf Burn crosses a field boundary; then southeastward along the said field boundary to a track leading to an access road to Draffanmarshill and Draffan Road; then southeastward along the said track and access road to and southwestward along Draffan Road to the M74; then southeastward along the said M74 to where it crosses a dismantled railway; then generally eastward and southeastward along the course of the said dismantled railway to the Birkwood Burn and the northern boundary of EW 3; then generally southwestward along the said EW boundary to NG Ref NS 7203 3712 and the Back Burn; then generally northeastward along the said burn to its confluence with the Kype Water; then northeastward along the said water to the southern shore of Kype Reservoir; then generally northeastward and northwestward along the eastern and northern shores of the said reservoir to the Kype Water; then generally northeastward and northwestward along the said water to the point where it is crossed by the A726 road at NG Ref NS 7502 4163; then northeastward in a straight line to the junction of an access road leading from Townend and an unnamed road leading from Yards to the A726 road at NG Ref NS 7564 4255; then northeastward in a straight line to NG Ref NS 7620 4305; then northeastward in a straight line to the source of an unnamed burn at NG Ref NS 7670 4432; then northeastward along the said unnamed burn to its confluence with the Cander Water; then northeastward and southeastward along the said water to and northeastward along the line of an unnamed burn to the point where it is crossed by the M74; then northwestward along the said M74 to NG Ref NS 7806 4552; then northeastward in a straight line to the point of commencement.
